Scottsdale's artist-owned Pejman Gallery specializes in oils and sculptures

As the son of an operatic composer and a concert musician, gallery owner Bob Pejman comes from artistic stock.

Although he's been painting since he was seven years old, Pejman spent years pursuing a career in business management before returning to his original passion: art.

Pejman Gallery, established in 1988 in Short Hills, New Jersey, recently opened its new showroom in the heart of Scottsdale's Historic Main Street Arts District. The gallery primarily exhibits oil paintings by Pejman, as well as original paintings by leading American and European artists, and the sculptures of Gaylord Ho.

Pejman's captivating renderings of European and old-world vistas are internationally acclaimed. Inspired by the likes of Sir Alma-Tade-ma, Thomas Cole, and Maxfield Parrish, his classical scenes draw viewers into a sense of tranquility. "There are no people in my paintings," Pejman says. "Instead, I invite the viewer to place themselves in the scenes."

Pejman offers his works in two distinct styles: romantic realism and plein air palette knife. While the realist style allows him to capture painstaking detail, the palette knife series exhibits stunning texture and vibrant colors.

Whether you're looking to start your collection with a piece by Pejman himself or a work by one of the many well-known artists in his Scottsdale gallery, you're bound to find something exquisite in the selection of timeless and classical American and European original oils.
